Medical Record Review Program

The Medical Record Review is an opportunity for a practice to evaluate its coding selections based on a review of the clinical documentation. The findings of the review enable the practice to focus its attention on those specific areas impacting reimbursement or compliance. The review can be a stand-alone activity or combined with other educational or practice assessment programs.

The Medical Record Review includes:
- Assistance with the sampling methodology for the selection of records included in the review
- A review of a subset of clinical encounters and associated claims for adherence to published CPT-4 and ICD-9 guidelines, documentation guidelines for E/M and Teaching Physician Services, and other federal regulatory guidelines
- An analysis of the data consisting of detailed information regarding coding and documentation issues
- An analysis of the financial impact of any potential lost charges and audit risks identified during the review
- Written and verbal feedback on findings and recommended changes

Your practice receives:
- A written spreadsheet report for each provider detailing the findings of the review
- A detailed spreadsheet report grouped by specialty and type of service
- A written narrative summary explaining key findings of the review
- A list of all exceptions including medical record number, date of service, provider, and detail of exception
- Verbal and written recommendations identifying behavioral changes necessary to ensure compliance
- Support for coding and documentation issues for 30 days following completion of the review
